

Alaska Someday

By: Gracie Lott

Verse 1

I remember that Saturday night, everything was wrong but it was all right.
I remember every Sunday, always seeing your smiling face.
And I remember in December acting like we'd known each other for forever,
Staying up late, talking about nothin, wishing on stars and eleven eleven's

Chorus

But it's been a month since I've talked to you,
Your eyes are distant, don't know what to do.
Something's happened between then and now, you and I have changed somehow.
But maybe it was never meant to be; maybe you and I are just a memory like,
When you said we'd run away
To Alaska someday.

Verse 2

Well maybe it was all in my mind; maybe you just flirt all the time.
Maybe I was just another girl enchanted by your smile and your sweet words.
Well sorry I was a little naive and willing to believe in happy endings.
Maybe I should know by now sometimes things just don't work out.

Play Chorus

Bridge

I remember when we first met;
I was so young I didn't know yet
That when you took me by the hand, you took me by the heart,
And that's where memories start.
